How About Abolishing a College or Two and Holding the Tax Line?

At this moment there is before the Arkansas legislature a proposal to float for the construction program of the state's tax-supported colleges a $2-million-dollar bond issue financed by a one-cent-a-bottle levy on soft-drinks.

The proposal is a disgrace to the college presidents who dreamed it up. From their comfortable campus offices they have struck cynically and cruelly at the unorganized poor, instead of having the guts to try for a fair, overall tax program.

The proposal is an insult to the legislature and the people. Is a bottle of soda-pop any more a luxury than bread and meat? Here is a state that by and large believes in prohibition — in effect making hard liquor tax-exempt — and now it is asked to tax soda-pop that is drunk everywhere. How silly can you be? Do you want to run off the rest of Arkansas' people?

And here is the deadliest danger of all:

Once those $2 millions in bonds are issued they will have to be repaid in full with interest. If the soda-pop tax fails to cover bond requirements then the burden of "make-good" will fall back upon the state treasury. In that event the funds now available to the public schools would certainly be damaged.

Let us examine the professors' financial reasoning and discover what thin ice they are shoving us onto:

Spokesmen for the soft-drink business point out that only 2 of the 50 states have a tax such as is now proposed for Arkansas. Three other states — Kentucky, Ohio and Pennsylvania — tried it, and repealed it. The college presidents point with pride to the example of West Virginia, where the soft-drink tax has been in effect since 1951. But here is the bottlers' rebuttal:

During the time the tax has been in effect the number of bottling plants in West Virginia has decreased from 123 to 70 — a net loss of 53 plants, all of them being little ones. Before the advent of the tax West Virginia had per capita sales of soft-drinks 24 bottles above the national average—but under the tax, per capita sales have dropped to 43 below the national average.

And here is the clincher: Only last month — December 7, 1960 — the Interim Tax Study Commission recommended that West Virginia repeal its soft-drink tax as "discriminatory and inequitable" — a judgment arrived at after nine years' experience.

The foregoing describes about as poor a piece of collateral for a bond issue as anything ever offered in the history of an American state. And if you "buy" the proposition you had better be prepared to pay some heavy general tax in the immediate future — or see your public schools go down hill.

The college presidents may be expected to say in rebuttal:

"If you don't like our proposition what do you offer in its place?"

Well, in the first place many of Arkansas' freshwater colleges aren't much to speak of academically. The basic higher-education facility is the University of Arkansas — something we have to support. The history of the other tax-supported schools springs mainly from politics or the community's desire to have a local college. In one case the "college" was founded merely as a rural high school. Pretty soon it upstaged itself to a two-year "college" — and now it's a four-year school — with increasing money hunger, of course. In another case a church abandoned a college, and the state government picked up the tab — with increasing financial distress.

When we had too many rural public schools the obvious course for a poor state like Arkansas was to consolidate them and make our tax money go as far as it could.

The answer to the small college presidents is simply this:

If the best you can come up with is a soda-pop tax on the poor, then abolish one or two of your institutions. None but your home communities will miss you.

Legislature Aims Teacher Retirement

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A proposed bill to bring about a long-discussed consolidation of state teacher retirement with Social Security got an exhaustive discussion in a special joint legislative committee today.

The plan would increase teacher benefits, backers say.

There were no final conclusions — and can be none until the measure or one like it is introduced in the legislature and voted on — and sometimes there was disagreement among committee members as to just what some provisions would do.

Even if the legislature and Gov. Orval E. Faubus approve, teachers still will have to vote at a referendum on whether the want Social Security. That is in accord with federal regulations.

Under the proposal, Social Security tax would be deducted in addition to the present retirement deductions. The retired teacher then would receive Social Security benefits as well as teacher retirement.

One provision would reduce from 2 per cent to 1 1/2 per cent the retirement system benefits on assessable salaries earned after next July 1. It would not affect money earned before then.

During the discussion, Rep. W. R. Stephens of Grant County, financier and utilities executive, suggested that a greater diversification of investments be allowed the Teacher Retirement Board. The Board now is limited to government securities and any change would have to be by law.

A. G. Gabriel of Detroit, attorney for the Teacher Retirement System, met with the committee, whose chairman is Sen. Robert Harvey of Swift. H. R. Pyle, the system's executive secretary, also attended.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus Monday told the board of Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff he would try to help the school get more funds to avert a threatened loss in its accreditation.

A board spokesman said the college has authorized a new job for the college staff — fiscal agent to handle all financial affairs.

Faubus also discussed a move to combine the state's teacher retirement program with Social Security. He said such a combination would require 22 per cent of teacher salary funds and while he is in favor of the merger, he does not want teachers to have to contribute such a large part of their salary toward retirement.

The governor said he would rather see teacher contributions matched by the state and the additional money given to the teachers in the form of salary.

Last Day to Buy Those Auto Tags

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — This is the last day to buy 1961 Arkansas license tags.

But you can go down to defeat with the consolation that the Arkansas Legislature Monday did what it could to help you out.

Both houses passed a resolution asking Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney to extend the deadline for buying tags until Feb. 15.

Cheney said he could not do this because state law prohibits it.

Quachita Rep. David Pryor, who sponsored the resolution, said the state's economy was "hurting" and many persons didn't have enough money to buy a license.

Rules Change Vote to Test Senate Leader

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., appeared to have a razor thin edge as the House faced a showdown vote today on his plan to enlarge the Rules Committee.

But his apparent hairline margin could vanish before the actual voting gets under way. Last-minute maneuvering plus possible absenteeism could swing the decision either way in the vote slated for early afternoon.

There was a slim outside chance that a showdown might be averted between Rayburn and Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., Rules Committee chairman. Smith has fought any move to enlarge his group.

Talk of compromise still was in the air, although several proposed compromises have been turned down.

The Rules Committee frequently has deadlocked 6-6 on questions of sending legislation to the House for a vote. The deadlocks usually have been on legislation backed by liberal Democrats. The committee split has been four Republicans and two Southern Democrats against six Democrats.

Rayburn's plan is designed to break the coalition held by boosting the membership to 10 Democrats and 5 Republicans. The additional Democrats would be men picked by Rayburn on the theory that they would vote for bills backed by the speaker and advocated by the Kennedy administration. If they voted that way, Rayburn forces would control the committee by an 8-7 edge.

The latest compromise move to stave off a fight almost certain to split Democratic ranks for some time was initiated by Rep. Francis E. Walter, D-Pa.

Walter came up with a plan to let the House itself decide what bills it will consider, and under what conditions, if the Rules Committee deadlocks.

The showdown on the Rayburn plan originally was scheduled for last Thursday but Rayburn put it off until today.

Loan Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Housing and Home Finance Agency Monday approved a $1,500,000 loan to Arkansas State College in Jonesboro, Ark., to construct a new student union building.

The agency had once said it would lend only two-thirds of the money required and the school would have to borrow the rest from banks.

U. S. Admiral Confers With Rebel Captain

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — Rear Adm. Allen E. Smith Jr. reported from aboard the captive liner Santa Maria today his first talks with Portuguese rebel Henrique M. Galvao on the release of the passengers were "in general good."

By MORRIS ROSENBERG

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — A U. S. admiral met Portuguese rebel Capt. Henrique Galvao at sea today in a conference that could mean swift freedom for the nearly 600 passengers aboard the captive liner Santa Maria.

Atlantic Fleet headquarters in Norfolk, Va., announced the rendezvous of Rear Adm. Allen E. Smith Jr., and Galvao who seized the $16.6 million ship Jan. 22.

Smith, the Navy's Caribbean commander, sped out from Recife at daybreak aboard the U. S. destroyer Gearing to a point about 35 miles offshore where Galvao waited for the inauguration today of a new Brazilian president who has informally offered him and the ship safe haven.

The Navy announced the admiral went aboard the Santa Maria at 6:50 a. m. This conformed to original plans. It was reported here Monday night that Galvao had asked that the meeting be held on the destroyer.

The Gearing halted about 500 yards from the Santa Maria and Smith and his party, including two American diplomats posted in Brazil, made the crossing in a motor whaleboat.

A Recife tug carried 61 newsmen to the area, but was requested by the Navy to keep some distance away so as not to impede the Navy's operations.

The U. S. destroyer Damato was also on hand and two others, the destroyers Wilson and Vogelgesang, were expected to join forces with her and the Gearing.

U. S. Envoy to Russia Called Home

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy today summoned the U. S. ambassador to Russia back to Washington for consultation on all aspects of Soviet-American relations.

Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, expected to arrive here by Monday the White House announced.

Press Secretary Pierre Salinger issued this statement:

"The President has requested Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson to return for consultation on all aspects of Soviet-American relations."

"The ambassador is expected to arrive in Washington D.C. by approximately Feb. 8."

"The president and the secretary of state are interested in having at first-hand Ambassador Thompson's observations and reports on the Soviet scene."

Soft Drink Tax Hearing Set Tonight

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The controversy over a proposed soft-drink tax that would finance a construction bond issue may reach a climax tonight in a public hearing.

The House Revenue and Taxation Committee will conduct the hearing.

Monday, state colleges and institutions that would benefit from the bonds outlined immediate building needs of $68,643,530 and long-range needs of another $26,542,940.

They handed these figures to a legislative-sponsored committee investigating the possibility of a state construction program from current revenues. Such a move would make the tax unnecessary.

In other moves Monday in the Arkansas Legislature, the Highway Commission drew a verbal blast from Rep. Clarke Kinney of St. Francis County, the House spent the afternoon wading through a Land Department appropriation bill, and the Senate got a proposal to raise county salaries 10 per cent.

Kinney accused the Highway Commission of bowing to an advertising lobby and opposing his bills to abolish billboard advertising on highway right of way.

Highway Director F. H. Oliver denied the charge, saying he did not know of any advertising lobby. Kinney said he would make no effort to get his bills passed unless the Highway Commission reverses its decision.

The House pulled a curious move by adopting in committee of the whole Fulton Rep. Russell J. Benton amendment to eliminate two Land Department jobs and chop the budget from $73,100 to $60,000, then voting against the amendment later when it came up for formal action.

The budget was finally approved in its original form. Later a constitutional amendment was proposed to abolish the Land Department. — Continued on Page Two

Bulletin

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted Tuesday to enlarge its Rules Committee in an effort to curb the power of a conservative coalition.

The roll-call vote was 217-212.

Voting for the increase were 155 Democrats and 22 Republicans. Against it were 64 Democrats and 148 Republicans.

The decision to boost the committee membership from 12 to 15 was a personal victory for Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex. In a power struggle with Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., of the Rules Committee.

FBI Probes Tennessee Vote Case

MEMPHIS (AP) — The FBI said Monday night it had completed another investigation of voter rights violations in Fayette County, where a government suit is pending against many white residents.

The new investigation in nearby Fayette, where the Justice Department is testing a section of the 1957 Civil Rights Act dealing with threats to voters, came as two factions battled for control of the Fayette County Civic and Welfare League, the organization that made Fayette County a civil rights hot spot.

The league handles distribution of food and clothing donated by Negro sharecroppers who claim to be the victims of economic reprisals because they voted.

John McFerrin, league chairman, says attorney J. F. Estes has been fired as legal counsel for the league, and Scott Franklin is president.

Franklin says McFerrin has been discharged and Estes retained.

The Justice Department suit seeks an injunction against economic conspiracy allegedly aimed at Negroes who register as voters. Whites fear threatened evictions of sharecroppers were the result of farm mechanization.

Chimp Blazes Way for Trip Into Space

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The United States successfully rocketed a chimpanzee named Enos into space today and dropped it in the Atlantic Ocean 420 miles down range. There was no immediate report on whether the chimp survived.

The capsule overshoot its intended target by 130 miles indicating that the Redstone booster rocket had not performed as planned.

Ships, planes and helicopters raced to attempt recovery of the one-ton space chamber and its passenger a 37 1/2-pound male primate designated simply No. 65.

The majority of the recovery forces were stationed in the intended impact area 270 miles down range. But other craft were placed on both near and far sides of the mark in case the capsule missed it.

There was no immediate word on how near the bell-shaped capsule fell to any of the recovery ships.

The launching was a crucial forerunner of a plan to send an American astronaut on a similar ride into space hopefully within two months.

The 60-foot rocket blasted off at 11:55 a. m. and roared away at a speed of 4200 miles an hour.

Six of the seven U. S. astronauts were here for the vital test. The seventh, Virgil Grissom, was in St. Louis in connection with Project Mercury business.

Mounted within the chimp's view will be a three-light panel, one red, one white, one blue. Two levers are at the base of the panel, near each hand.

The red light will be on throughout the trip. The chimp is trained to push the right lever at least once every 20 seconds when he sees it. If 20 seconds pass without a hit, he receives a slight electric shock.

Every two minutes the blue light will blink on for five seconds. If the animal does not pinch the left lever in this five-second period he gets a shock. The white light flashes on whenever he strikes a lever, telling him he is responding correctly.

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A chimpanzee rode a Redstone rocket into space today blazing the trail for the American astronauts.

The 60-foot rocket blasted off at 11:55 a. m. (EST). Its mission was to hurl the space ape to an altitude of 115 miles and 200 miles down the Atlantic missile range at a speed of 4200 miles an hour.

Six of the seven astronauts were spectators at the launching. If the chimp comes through the flight unharmed one of the human space men may travel the same route within two months.

Mechanical Class Held for Local Men

The Arkansas Vocational Technical School of Pine Bluff has awarded certificates to 11 Hope men upon completion of a 40 hour course in auto testing and tune up. The certificates were awarded last night.

The course included electrical system, ignition system, charging system, cranking and fuel system.

J. W. Howe, coordinator for the school presented certificates from the Arkansas Vocational Technical School and United Motors Service, a division of General Motors. The group included:

Toy Vaughn, Harold Kee and Lee Little of Hope Auto; Jewell Still Jr. of Still's Garage; Robert Marney and Carroll Rowe of Porter Implement Co.; Leland Powers and Jay Hawley of Wylie Glass and Salvage; Dorsey Buckabee, Buckabee's Auto Electric Shop; David O'Rourke of Bruner Ivory and Walls Monroe of Crow-Burlingame Co.

The course was held at Hope Auto Co. with E. K. Clipp Holder of Texarkana as instructor.

Escaping Gas Kills Animals

NEW ROADS La. (AP) — A green cloud of chlorine gas floated across a section of southeast Louisiana today killing animals and sending several persons to hospitals.

State police said one family—including a three-week-old baby—received a big dose of the sometimes deadly gas.

Police evacuated 400 school children from a building a half-mile away from the wreck of a Kansas City Southern Railroad freight train which dumped chemicals into nearby ditches.

The pungent gas spewed up from the chloride-filled ditches in a cloud of vapor. A chill breeze carried it northwest toward the Morganza community five miles away.

The gas rapid killer of wild life and farm animals in this farming area had not caused the death of any humans state police said.

ment. Several speakers suggested the Land Department had outlived its usefulness.

Both the House and Senate, as committees of the whole, approved budgets generally higher than appropriations for the current fiscal year.

A group of state college presidents reiterated Monday that they thought a bond issue was the only way to provide needed money for construction. They are backing the tax bill being investigated by the legislative-sponsored committee.

The State Hospital and Children's Colony also would benefit from the bonds.

The State Hospital listed construction projects totaling $11,568,800 as being most urgent. Included was the replacement of all old buildings at the hospital's Little Rock unit. A long range need of an additional $13,600,000 was listed.

The Children's Colony asked $6,900,000 in construction funds with no breakdown as to immediate or long-range totals.

Immediate construction needs of the colleges, with long range needs in parentheses, included:

University of Arkansas, $20,430,000 ($3,000,000)

Arkansas State Teachers College, $4,350,000 ($1,950,000)

Henderson, $3,500,000 (no figures listed)

Arkansas State, $4,923,565 ($12,370,000)

Southern State, $3,465,000 ($1,400,000)

Arkansas A&M, $4,600,000 (no figures listed)

Arkansas Tech, $3,510,000 ($1,325,000)

Arkansas AM&N, $3,296,075 ($3,466,600)

Libraries, classroom buildings and student living quarters were among top priority items listed.

Three Little Rock senators introduced a bill which would allow a 10 per cent salary raise for most county employees and permit counties to hire nine more employees than they presently are authorized to employ.

The House approved by a 91-0 vote a bill raising the maximum prison sentence for bombing from five to 20 years. There was no debate.

The House defeated by a 56-32 vote a bill to increase plumber's fees as high as 50 per cent.

In another 91-0 vote, the House approved a bill making pawnbrokers liable for legal expenses of persons who have to go to court to regain possession of any stolen articles that have been pawned.

Bills were introduced in both houses to guarantee that the state Highway Department gets 73.6 per cent of all funds allocated for road building and maintenance. State highways carry 73.6 per cent of road traffic in the state.

A resolution was passed in the House asking the Legislative Council to study possibilities of a withholding system for collecting state income tax.

A bill introduced in the Senate would appropriate $22,800 for operation of a division of mental health in the state Health Department. The division was authorized by a 1947 act.

Still Cold Despite Warm Trend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Despite a warming trend over much of the nation the past two days, the icy grip of prolonged frigid temperatures is threatening to choke off traffic on major waterways in the Midwest and Northeast.

Inland waterways from the Mississippi to the Hudson were caught in the tightening stranglehold of ice as the cold spell entered its 13th day for many areas.

The Hudson was frozen solid from West Point northward today with a convoy of four vessels locked in ice reported to be 18 inches thick. The convoy has been battling its way from Albany since Friday on the 150-mile trip to New York City.

Riverboat men waged a losing battle against the ice-choked Mississippi near Cairo, Ill. Three ice jams, two five miles long and one eight miles long, have all but halted traffic on the big river. A barge official said it would take 50-degree temperatures and rain to break the jams. The reading early today was 21.

One Mississippi towboat captain described the ice situation as the worst he'd seen in 28 years.

At Grand Haven, Mich., Coast Guard ships struggled to free a cutter locked tight in Lake Michigan ice. Three other ships were freed from dense ice field Monday. One of them, the Milwaukee Clipper, has been ice-locked three times in as many days while carrying passengers and freight from Milwaukee to Muskegon, Mich.

Army engineers at Pittsburgh reported traffic at a standstill on the usually busy Allegheny River. Traffic was reported moving but slowed on the Monongahela and the Ohio.

Temperatures remained below freezing from the middle Mississippi Valley northward with sub-zero readings in northern Minnesota and northern New England.

Elsewhere a warming trend pushed the mercury above freezing from the Rockies and south central Plains eastward to the middle and south Atlantic and Gulf states.

West Palm Beach, Fla., reported a high of 66 with International Falls, Minn., reporting a low of minus 13.

New Plan to Change State Constitution

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —Gov. Orval E. Faubus' new plan for amending the state constitution would allow a constitutional amendment to sail into law in 60 days.

Faubus Monday released details of the new amending amendment he described in general terms in his inaugural address.

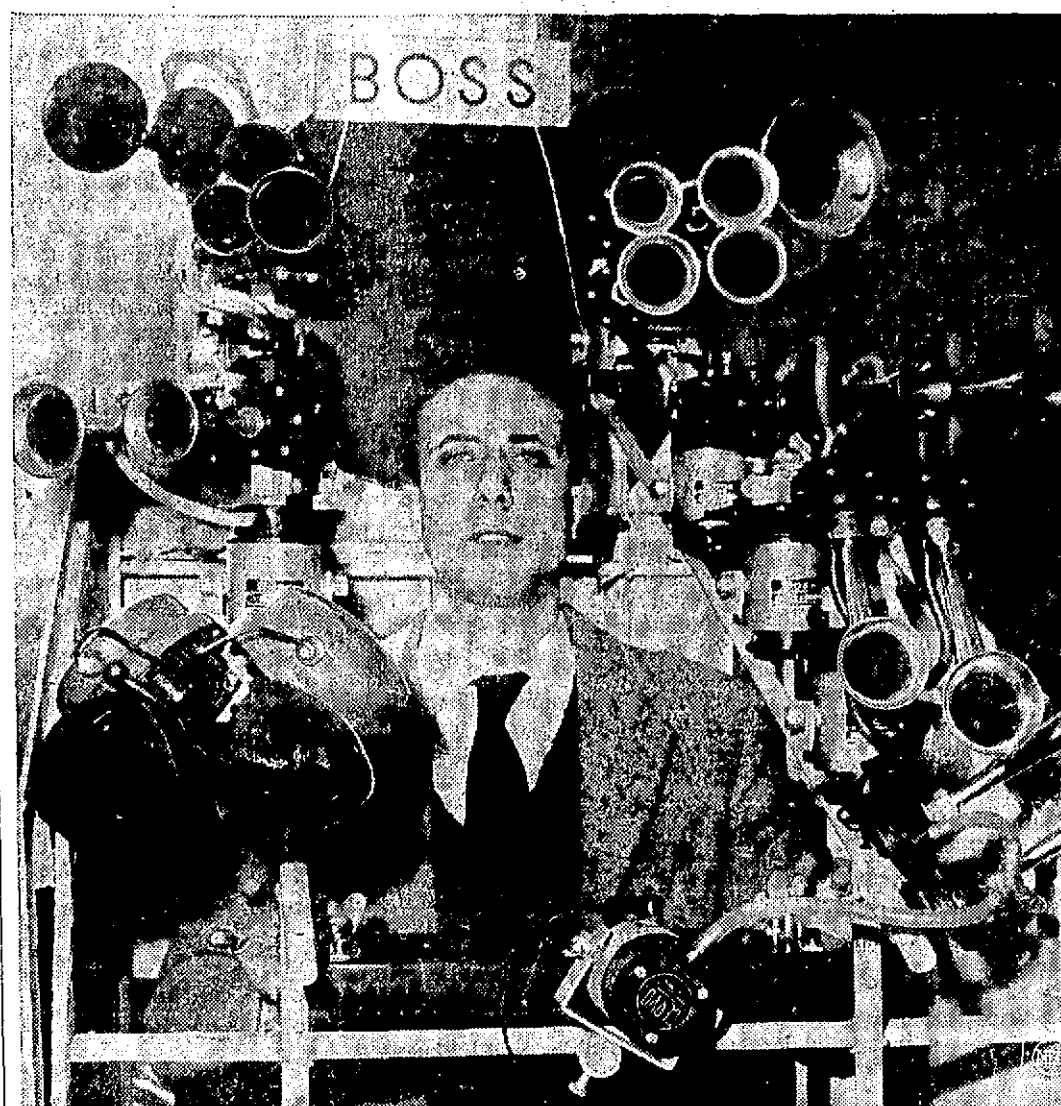

It now takes 20 months for an amendment to go through the Legislature and be approved by a vote of the people at a November general election.

Faubus said his plan would allow the governor to call a special legislative session to put the amendment on the ballot, then call ditional salaries of Racing Commission employees at Oaklawn race track in Hot Springs because of a 12-day extension of the 1961 season.

THE MENACE—Perhaps this Roman wants to get even with the city's heavy honking motorists. He put together a weird collection of auto horns and plays on the street to cage coins from bystanders. They're probably happy to see him depart.

a special election to approve or defeat it.

One of the governor's anti-integration proposals died between 1957—when it was introduced in the legislature—and 1959—when it finally came to vote of the people. It would have allowed school districts to close schools faced with integration.

Faubus said his new plan would not replace the old method, but would only be a supplemental measure for use in an emergency.

A amendments still could go through the longer process.

He said he would have the proposal added to another proposed amendment in the House to avoid monopolizing the three constitutional amendments the legislature is allowed to propose in one session.

Faubus has another proposed amendment which would open other public schools to any child who refused to attend integration public schools.

Man Killed at Rail Crossing

ORMOND BEACH, Calif. (AP) —A trailer-truck and a Florida East Coast passenger train collided at a grade crossing north of Ormond Beach today, killing the truck driver and injuring about 12 train passengers.

None of the passengers was believed to have been hurt seriously. They were taken to Daytona Beach hospitals.

Khrushchev Plans Second Visit to UN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communist sources say Soviet Premier Khrushchev plans to be in the United States for the United Nations session in March and it is up to President Kennedy whether the two will meet.

Khrushchev himself is represented as agreeable to a meeting.

Word of Khrushchev's intentions and attitude was brought to Washington Monday by Communist diplomats attached to the United Nations. They said they got it from Moscow.

The General Assembly reconvenes March 7. The sources said Khrushchev intends to be there for one week.

The Communist diplomat said their information is that Khrushchev would be willing to go into either a highly informal get-acquainted session with Kennedy or to sit down with him for very extensive talks. They reported his tentative plans do not extend to any travel outside of New York.

The sources said the decision on any sort of meeting and on the circumstances as well would be a matter for Kennedy.

Kennedy was asked at his news conference last week about the prospects for a meeting with Khrushchev.

"There are no plans at the present time for a meeting with Mr. Khrushchev," the President replied but newsmen noted that he had not foreclosed the possibility of different plans at any later time.

Education Advisory Bill Offered

LITTLE ROCK (AP) —A bill to create a Higher Education Advisory Council empowered to study operations of and make recommendations to the University of Arkansas and state colleges filed in the Arkansas House today.

Jackson County Rep. Lonnie Eltheridge said he wrote the bill because it was apparent that other bills designated to create "super boards" for the institutions had slim chances of passage.

Eltheridge's proposed Advisory Council would have two members from the board of trustees of the University and one each from the boards of the seven colleges.

The council would not have control over finances of the institu-

Eltheridge introduced one of the "super board" bills. He said he would withdraw it.

Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell and Little River County Rep. Marion Crank, authors of other "super board" bills, said they would continue to press for their passage.

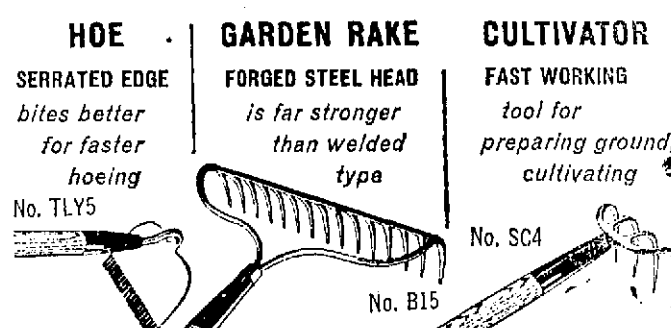

White county was named for Hugh L. White, Whig candidate for president.

Teacher Retirement Is Problem

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Proposals to reorganize the state Teacher Retirement System and bring it under the federal Social Security program have created "a thorny problem for the legislature," Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today.

Faubus, in discussing the matter at a news conference, said he could not approve proposals which would raise retirement contributions to 22 per cent of a teachers' total salary.

Such contributions now total 16 per cent — 5 per cent from the teachers and 11 per cent from the state — Faubus said. He added that Social Security would cost an additional 3 per cent from each contributory source.

Faubus said he would favor reducing the state's Teacher Retirement contribution to 5 per cent, matching the teachers' outlay.

He also would approve a 3 per cent state contribution to Social Security if teachers want it. Faubus said the 6 per cent teachers would lose from the state contribution to the retirement system should be distributed to the teachers in direct salary and they could "do with it whatever they choose, either using it for additional retirement benefits or for spending."

"One reason teachers' salaries in Arkansas are so low is that so much is taken out of the check before the teacher gets it," Faubus said.

The governor said he favors adding Social Security to the retirement program, noting that most states have it.

"I favored this move for teachers back in 1955 when other state employees went under Social Security," Faubus said. "I have found that some teachers don't want to come to Arkansas because they don't want to lose Social Security benefits they had in other states."

Faubus said he doubts if the legislature will approve a continuation of the state's 11 per cent retirement contribution. Members of the Legislative Council have criticized the figure as too high.

Faubus noted that the regular state Employees Retirement Fund was based on a 3 per cent contribution from the employees and 3 per cent from the state.

"And it's considered actuarially sound," Faubus added.

One reason the Teacher Retirement System needs more money, Faubus said, is that its benefits are higher. He said the teachers' retirement checks are figured on a basis of 2 per cent of the highest salary for each year in the system. State employees receive 1½ per cent.

Faubus said teachers could drop their retirement benefit to 1½ per cent and still have more actual money if they go under Social Security.

Lonely Widow Asks "Is It Love?"

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

What would you do in my place? I am 64, and have been widowed seven years. A good man loves me. We were all in church work together before his wife and my husband passed away. She has not been gone a year. I tell him it is too soon for us to marry. He has five children, all married; I have two sons. He is older than I but has much money and a large home.

I work, have my own apartment and a house which I rent; so I do not need his money but I am lonely.

Dear Widow: For a widow to marry just because she is lonely is a risky business at any age.

Have you and this widower the same tastes, sense of humor and understanding of life? In other words, are you companionable and most important of all—do you love one another? True love knows no age limit. Without it, no marriage can be happy. But if you do love each other do not wait.

Dear Helen:

I am in love with a boy at school. Until his boy friend started spreading gossip about me, my love was returned. I didn't know what to do, so I did nothing. Now this boy despises me.

He is 15, I am 16. He doesn't go with other girls, nor I with other boys. I can't eat or sleep and will lose my mind if I can't do something to prove I am not what they say. —M.R.S.

Dear M.R.S.: Some time ago I quoted a motto of George Bernard Shaw's which Judge Ben Lindsey, founder of the Children's Court, had carved above the fireplace of his Denver home. I repeat it for your benefit: "They say. What Do They Say? Let Them Say!"

Hold your head high, do the best you can in your studies and say nothing. If your erstwhile boy friend were worth the powder to blow him up, he would by-pass the gossips and come to you for Security.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swift is chairman of a joint legislative committee which is investigating the teacher retirement proposals. The Arkansas Education Association favors adding Social Security without dropping any current benefits.

the truth — whatever it is.

Dear Helen:

I am a 15-year-old girl in love with a 16-year-old boy in a reform school. He's a wonderful kid who made a mistake and is paying for it. He stole a car and now he's sorry.

His family has money so, if we ever do marry, he'll be able to support me. He's going to take over his father's business.

He can't write in that school but if he did, it would be to another girl. Should I try to recover the love we once had when he comes back, or should I forget him? —S.

Dear S.: Forget him. Any boy who steals is beneath contempt—doubly so when he comes of a well-to-do family. If he likes another girl, thank your lucky stars and run, don't walk, in the opposite direction.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful letters are available. Write for "Don't Be Lonely!"

Hotel Owner Is a Suicide

ATLANTA (AP)—Carlton Dinkler Sr., president of a Southern hotel chain, plunged to his death today from a window of his 12th floor apartment in the downtown Dinkler Plaza Hotel.

A hotel spokesman said the 66-year-old executive had been depressed over his health. He underwent surgery last year for an abdominal disorder.

His body landed on busy Forsyth Street in front of the hotel. Dinkler was president of Dinkler Hotels Inc., which operates hotels in Atlanta, Nashville, Tenn., and Alabama. A hotel at Montgomery, Ala., was sold recently.

A son, Carlton Dinkler Jr., is vice president and general manager of the chain. Also surviving is the widow.

Russia Again Accuses Belgians

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The Soviet Union today charged the Belgian government with new acts of aggression in the Congo, including formation of a foreign legion to fight against forces loyal to deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba and his pro-Communist deputy, Antoine Gizenga.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian A. Zorin, in a letter to the president of the Security Council, also charged Belgian "colonialists" bombed several Congolese towns controlled by Lumumba's forces and caused numerous casualties.

Zorin's letter, apparently delivered over the weekend, was a prelude to a Security Council meeting on the Congo scheduled for Wednesday.

Seven pro-Lumumba governments have asked the council to protest the imprisonment of Lumumba. Congo President Joseph Kasavubu has demanded that Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld replace Rajeshwar Dayal of India as the chief U.N. representative in the Congo. Hammarskjöld has warned that plans of pro-Lumumba governments to withdraw their troops from the U.N. force in the Congo may force the United Nations to pull out of the chaotic country entirely.

Reports from the Congo in the past few weeks have told of the arrival in Katanga Province of foreign fighting men to serve as mercenaries for provincial President Moise Tshombe. Recruitment apparently was stepped up as a result of the invasion of the northern part of the province by pro-Lumumba troops who established headquarters in Manono, a tin-mining center.

Red Students Fear for Jobs

MOSCOW (AP)—Students at Soviet technical schools are so afraid they will lose their scholarships that they never question what their teachers say, Komsomol Pravda declared today.

The result is that no one ever speaks his mind, declared the Soviet youth newspaper.

The article headed "Incubator of Silent Men" came only two weeks after Premier Khrushchev dressed down agricultural leaders for shortcomings in production. The principal replies of the culprits were "You are right, Nikita Sergeievich."

JFK Hairdo Is Rage in Scotland

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—A leading barber reported today the latest rage is the John F. Kennedy hairdo—a mop on top, parted on the side.

"Young Scots are giving up the crew cut and going in for this in a big way," said the barber. They say it makes them look older, more mature.

"On the other hand, middle-aged men are coming in for the same type of haircut because they think it makes them look younger."

Extradition Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus has asked Illinois authorities to extradite Lonnie Jimmerson to Pine Bluff to stand trial for the slaying of Silas James Stocker in a Pine Bluff cafe last Dec. 17.

Jimmerson is being held in Cook County Jail, Chicago.

Some GOPs Resentful of Message

WASHINGTON (AP)—The initial Republican reactions in Congress to President Kennedy's State of the Union message today were mild praise and expressions of deep resentment at the dark picture he painted of the nation's economy.

Democrats, as expected, were high in their praise of the address, using such words as challenging, inspiring, remarkable.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, the Republican national chairman, said that on the whole Kennedy "made a frank and forthright statement of the situation." But he said the President's analysis of the domestic situation is too black and "too negative."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said "The inky black picture President Kennedy paints of the economy and the situation in the world is unwarranted."

"Things are not that bad," Aiken said.

He said Kennedy "had injected 'partisan overtones' into his message."

Another Republican, Sen. Hiram L. Fong of Hawaii, said "Over-all the president is continuing to build on the Eisenhower program."

"I applaud his move to strengthen our defense forces," Fong said. "I am happy to note that he admits the United States is ahead in science and space technology—almost an about face since the fall campaign. I am disappointed there was no concrete proposal for solving the Cuban situation."

The Senate Democratic leader, Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, said that Kennedy "has laid the cards on the table."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., assistant Senate majority leader, said he is "grateful that we now have a president with enough faith in America to tell the people the truth of today's needs."

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson said "The President's message is a sober and realistic appraisal of the tremendous problems that face our nation."

"Even more important, it is a stirring call to action based not upon false optimism but upon deep confidence in the spiritual and physical resources of the American people," Johnson said.

The House Republican leader, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, said: "I certainly can't agree that the problems President Kennedy says he has inherited are what he claims they are," Halleck said.

"But I have said before and I say again that I shall cooperate in any way I can to keep the country strong militarily and economically."

Chinese Starting Trade Offensive

WASHINGTON (AP) - In what may be the start of a new Red Chinese trade offensive in Southeast Asia, Peiping quietly has offered to sell 30,000 tons of Cuban sugar to Burma at an undisclosed price.

U.S. officials, reporting this today, said Red China also has shipped more than 100,000 tons of rice to Cuba. 15,000 tons of rice to Guinea in North Africa and the equivalent of more than $20 million in foodstuffs, mainly rice, to Ceylon.

Thus, China would be exporting food although it has reported its harvests have been struck by the greatest natural calamities in a century.

U.S. experts closely following Chinese Communist affairs say that, so far, there has been no evidence of mass famine on the Chinese mainland although there are signs of localized scarcities, particularly in South China.

Kennedy to Find Going Tougher

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) - Any chance President Kennedy may have had for a congressional honeymoon vanished today as Republicans maneuvered to slow down a program he said was needed to reverse an economic downturn.

With some conservative exceptions, Democrats called Kennedy's State of the Union message a realistic challenge to the American people to face up to their problems at home and abroad.

Influential Republicans took sharp issue with the President's contention that the U.S. economy was in serious trouble and needed immediate corrective measures.

Other GOP members objected strenuously to what they called Kennedy's "down-grading" of America's position in the world. Others accused the President of injecting partisanship into the blueprint he drew for the critical days he saw ahead.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate GOP leader, signalled a slowdown by calling for extensive committee hearings on most of the proposals Kennedy said he would submit to Congress in the next two weeks. Dirksen said that if they could Republicans would see that there would be "no ill-digested stuff rushed through Congress."

The Illinois senator said that if Kennedy's recommendations for a food for peace program, establishment of a peace corps and a conservation corps and aid for distressed areas all were accepted by Congress, budget balancing would go down the drain.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., Republican national chairman, said Kennedy's address, delivered to a joint session of Congress Monday, "echoes the cynical brushiness" of his presidential campaign.

"At the same time," Morton said, the speech "blends it with timidity and excessive caution."

Morton said there was no need for America "to face the world at large with a national countenance steeped in gloom and doubt."

Morton also questioned how Kennedy intended to remain within the budget presented by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and also provide stronger defenses, hospitals, aid to education, medical care for the aged and expanded foreign aid programs.

Morton's remarks were in a statement issued through the Republican National Committee.

Morton's initial reaction on Capitol Hill to Kennedy's address was in a different vein. He said then that, on the whole, Kennedy had "made a frank and forthright statement of the situation."

Morton added, however, that he thought the President's analysis of the domestic situation was too

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

Copyright © 1960 by Henry Farrell Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

THE STORY: Blanche Hudson is terrified by her sister Jane, who has chosen horrifying methods of torture. Jane, Blanche believes, has been jealous of her since Blanche became a film star. Blanche was crippled at the peak of her career and now Jane cares for her. Jane's methods include cutting off Blanche from contact with the outside world.

Chapter VIII

Blanche had seen that even without the telephone there was still a way to summon assistance. No sooner had the idea come to her than she had gotten a pad of note paper and a pencil and gone to work.

"Mrs. Bates," she had written in a wide, agitated scrawl, "this is from your neighbor, Blanche Hudson. I am forced to ask your help in a very serious matter. For reasons I cannot explain in this note, I am not able to use my telephone. As I need desperately to reach my doctor, I am asking you to call him for me. His name is Dr. Warren Shelby, and his office, number is OL 6-5541. Please ask him to come here to my home to see me as quickly as possible. Tell him not to call before hand but just to come. Please do this for me. It is a matter of life and death. Do not, under any circumstances disturb my sister about this matter."

When she had finished it she had folded it over carefully and put it in the right-hand pocket of her robe, where it would be handy when she needed it.

And then she dreamed. In her dream she had been a little girl again, five or six years old.

Jane's daily practice period was religiously maintained in order to keep her "in shape," even during her month of holiday, and to prepare new material for the fall bookings. It took place between the hours of two and four and was held out on the porch, according to their father's explanation, so that Jane might take full advantage of the healthful salt air. If, at the same time, a large number of onlookers was attracted from the ranks of the casual visitors on the beach, Blanche, chubby and tanned in her sagging blue-and-white-striped bathing suit, was permitted to attend, but only as one of the spectators. Her designated place was close behind her father's chair from which he provided Jane's musical accompaniment on a magnificent five-string banjo. Jane's work period was to be regarded always with respect and solemn sobriety; Blanche was suffered to watch only on the strict admonition that she was to be absolutely silent.

Watching Jane perform her songs and dances before the rapt stares of her porchside audience, she felt within herself a burgeoning desire to share at least a ray of Jane's bright spotlight.

The ring of the banjo loud in her ears, Blanche darted out suddenly from behind her father's chair and joined Jane, forthwith, in the dance. Jumping violently up and down, she shook her head and waved her arms in an idiot frenzy of excitement.

And then, in the next instant, retribution befell her; a hand struck her stinging across the face, and another caught at her hair and pulled it so hard that she was thrown to the floor. Jane's voice shrieked close to her ear.

"Go away! You go away, you go away, go away!"

Then a larger, harder hand, her father's, was around her arm, jerking her dizzily to her feet.

"What do you think you're trying to do?" her father roared. "What's got into you?"

Blanche looked up dazedly into his flushed and furious face, and for a moment she was assailed by a terrible feeling of sickness. At the same time she was aware of Jane standing close beside her, arms akimbo, breathing heavily with exertion and righteous indignation.

"You can't dance, you dirty little fatty!"

And then her father led her swiftly across the porch and down the steps to the sand. "Don't come back till you're ready to behave yourself," he said.

Blanche had stumbled away. Out of sight of the tittering onlookers, she had taken shelter beneath the woden steps leading down from the back porch.

Nearly two hours later her mother found her and taking her hand, led her out along the dusk-dimmed beach. Out of sight of the cottage they stopped. Her mother, sitting down on a rock that jutted up out of the sand, drew her close.

"You mustn't mind, sweetheart," her mother told her. "Your daddy didn't really mean it, not the way it seemed. It's just that he has to give Jane a lot of special attention that he doesn't give to you—or even to me—because of her work. We owe such a lot to Jane, you know, all of us. Janie works very hard for us—and for you, too, dear."

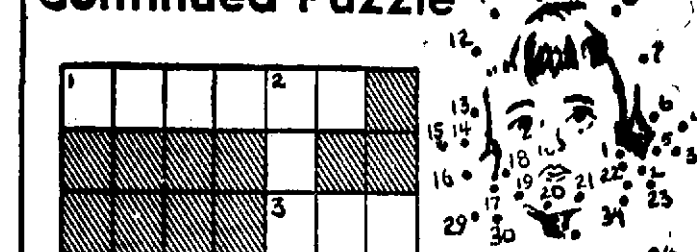

Her mother lifted her chin gently with the tip of her finger and gazed deeply for a moment into her eyes. "But you're the lucky one, sweetheart, you really and truly are, if you only knew it. You'll see one day. And when you do, you must remember to be kinder to Jane and your father than they are to you now."

Favorable to Control of Billboards

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today he personally favors control of billboard advertising along interstate highways, but he declined to enter into a controversy over the matter between St. Francis Rep. Clarke Kinney and the Highway Department.

Kinney rapped the Highway Department Monday for what he said was yielding to pressure from the billboard lobby.

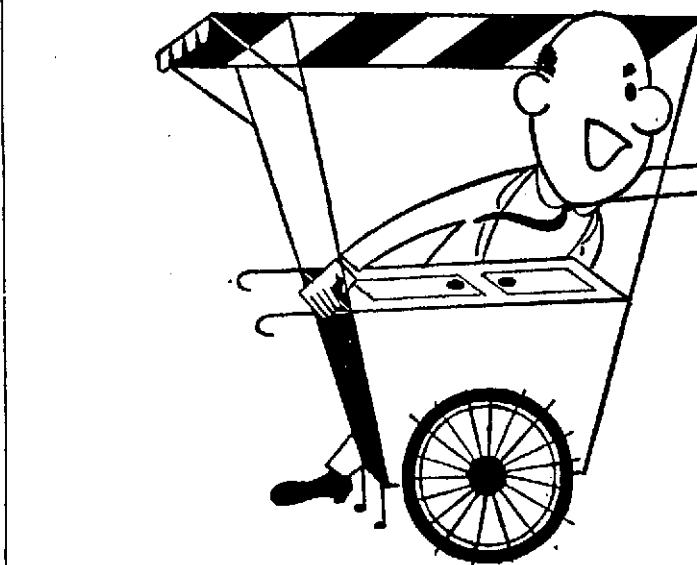

There are 228 institutions of higher education in the United States for men only and 252 for women only. Co-educational institutions number 1,531.

But he said he would not favor raising registration fees at the University of Arkansas and state colleges as a means of relieving financial problems of the school.

"I feel very strongly about making education available to those of modest finances," Faubus said. The governor remarked that he spent $200 this week to pay registration fees at the university for his son Farrell and Farrell's wife.

"A person of limited means could hardly afford to keep two children in school if fees were higher," he said.

Faubus said he will go to Huntsville his hometown this afternoon to attend the funeral of Lee Hudson whom he described as an old friend. The governor will travel by plane and plans to return to Little Rock late today.

Porkers Revive Conference Play Tonight

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks have their backs to the wall in Baylor's new gym here tonight when they resume Southwest Conference basketball competition against the tailend bears.

The Hogs are tied for fourth place in league standings with a 2-2 record. Baylor didn't win a conference game before the mid-semester break and is 2-12 for the season, but the Bears are always dangerous at home.

Arkansas can't afford another defeat if it hopes to be among the contenders in the February stretch drive. With Texas and Texas Tech having lost only one game each, a third loss would put the Hogs among the also-rans.

Baylor is led by three senior lettermen—Jerry Spence, Richard Tinsley and John West, the tallest at 6-7.

Arkansas will use its so-called six-man first unit, which includes little men Jerry Carlton, Pat Foster and Clyde Rhoden and big men Alan Morrison, Ronnie Garner and Tommy Boyer. Just which five of the six will start is of little import.

Arkansas has the best record in the league in season play, a 9-4 chart. The Hogs defeated Tulsa 66-58 last Thursday night and did a sharp job of conquering a pesky full-court defense.

Arkansas Forestry Queen Is Hope Visitor

MISS GLENDA RAWLS OF CROSSTREE, 1961 ARKANSAS Forestry Queen, paid Hope a visit Monday, speaking before the Lions Club luncheon in the Diamond Cafe banquet room at noon, conferring with officials of local woodworking plants during the afternoon at Hotel Barlow, where this picture was made.

DURING THE AFTERNOON MISS RAWLS CONFERRED also with Mrs. J. S. Gibson, vice-president of the Garden Club Council, Mrs. G. B. Hughes of the Rose Garden Club, and Haskell Jones, on plans for the new series of Forestry Queen contests to be held this summer and fall. Accompanied by Assistant Ranger Jim Martin of the Arkansas Forestry Commission, Miss Rawls is on a tour to help promote the forthcoming contests. She came here from Crossett, and left last night for Little Rock where she has a schedule of appearances.

MISS RAWLS WAS ELECTED ARKANSAS FORESTRY Queen last September 17 at Little Rock from an original field of 500 girls. She will enter the University of Arkansas next fall, having spent this winter assisting the state-wide Forestry Queen promotion of the Arkansas Forestry Commission.

Sues Bruce Bennett

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ad Craft of Arkansas, Inc., a Little Rock advertising firm has filed suit claiming that former Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett still owes it $1,938.85 for campaign ads.

The firm handled Bennett's advertising in his unsuccessful bid for the governorship last summer.

Bennett filed a cross-complaint alleging that the firm refused to give him a 15 per cent discount as he said it had agreed to do. He asked for a $6,000 judgment on the discount allegation.

HIGH POWER, LOW COST SEEN FOR BOAT TURBINES

By WM. TAYLOR MCKEOWN Editor, Popular Boating

Many boatmen looking out across the water toward the far horizon of the future see pleasure craft powered by turbine engines. Late in 1959 the Outboard Marine Corporation, makers of two-cycle Evinrude, Johnson and Gale outboard motors, announced they were working on small turbines. Boeing Aircraft has taken a look at the marine field and is now testing a larger but similar unit.

If and when a small turbine can be mass produced to turn the propeller of the marine market, engineers say it will give boatmen a power plant that can turn out high horsepower at low cost.

Not only gasoline, but kerosene, diesel oil jet fuel or home turbine oil can be burned by these potent little plants. Heat exchangers will further boost power output.

Turbine power is not new, but it is difficult to tame. Units originally were heavy, and spewed out a blast of searing hot air that could scorch anything behind it. Metals that could stand 30,000 revolutions per minute and extremes of heat were expensive. Gearing down the tremendous internal speed of the engine was complicated.

at now Boeing is demonstrating a 200-horsepower turbine engine at boat show, and has been testing it on Lake Washington in Seattle. Turning a conventional propeller it is reported to double the speed of a power cruiser.

Boeing has also constructed a special test boat—a floating tank laboratory pushed by an aircraft jet—to develop hydrofoil designs and other high speed craft that can handle the turbines of the future.

Outboard Marine's smaller 125-h.p. turbine is presently being developed only for the Navy, but undoubtedly will be adapted later to pleasure use if it performs as planned and can be brought down to a competitive cost.

Though the automotive industry the turbine for inexpensive cars, hasn't yet successfully harnessed it may shortly be pushing pleasure craft quickly and inexpensively.

75 Cubans Are Granted Asylum

NEW YORK (AP)—Seventy-five Cubans, granted temporary asylum by the United States, may find out today whether they can remain in this country.

The group of men, women and children arrived here Monday aboard the Spanish ship Covadonga. They were allowed to land "on parole, pending complete investigation" after hours of screening by immigration officials who checked with superiors in Washington.

They quickly spread among friends and various Cuban organizations which housed them. Peter Esperdy, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said they were told to return today for final processing.

The 75 were among 215 passengers on the 10,000-ton cruise ship which left Havana Friday. Many told stories of narrow escape.

The first reaction of the immigration service was to reject the pleas for asylum, on grounds that the travelers were able to continue to Spain, their original destination.

Esperdy said the Spanish government already had granted them visas and thus had provided sanctuary. Exceptions were being made for those with close family ties in this country.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. W. F. Norrell, D-Ark., said today the presidential budget for the next fiscal year includes $1,200,000 for

The Arsenal cost $2,100,000 in 1959 and $2,100,000 in 1959.

Palmer Heads Field at Palm Springs

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—

Arnold Palmer, who launched his great 1960 campaign here, leads a small army of golfers Wednesday into the 90-hole $50,000 Palm Springs Classic.

A picked field of 120 professionals, each accompanied by three amateurs, for a total of 512 players, spreads out over the vast desert country on four courses for the first four rounds. The final round of the second annual classic will be played Sunday on a fifth course.

Bermuda Dunes, Indian Wells, Thunderbird and Eldorado are the sites of the first four rounds of pro-amateur competition. Tamarisk Country Club, the official headquarters of the tournament, is the setting for the windup with the low 60 professionals competing.

Last year Palmer won the five-round classic and $12,000. He had scores of 67-73-67-66 and wound up with a six-under-par 65 for a total score of 338.

Second at 341 was Fred Hawkins, Thunderbird and Eldorado are the sites of the first four rounds of pro-amateur competition. Tamarisk Country Club, the official headquarters of the tournament, is the setting for the windup with the low 60 professionals competing.

Palmer went on to win almost everything in sight, including the United States Open, the Masters and more than $80,000.

Much the same cast of stars of tournament golf is here again.

Invited were the winners of the 1961 tournament swing thus far in California—Gulby at Los Angeles, Bob Rosburg at the Bing Crosby Tournament, Gary Player at San Francisco Sunday and Arnold Palmer at San Diego.

Fire Destroys Four Businesses

spreading fire destroyed four small adjoining places of business Monday night. No injuries were reported and there was no immediate estimate of damage.

A grocery, cabinet shop, upholstery company and roofing company went up in flames. Deputy Sheriff Richard Howard said the fire apparently started in the upholstery shop, but he said the cause was not known.

Matter of FACT

In 1906, British suffragettes made life miserable for policemen who arrested them. The girls refused to eat in prison. The government didn't want them to become martyrs. So when the ladies had reduced for a few days they were released long enough to get a few hearty meals down—then back to jail they went.

Ohio State Has Full Team of Top Stars

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. Associated Press Sports Writer

College basketball coaches usually can come up with ways and means of stopping one big star, but what are you going to do about a whole team of them?

That's the dilemma faced by Ohio State's rivals. Chances are they could devise a defense to stop tall Jerry Lucas, just as Minnesota stalled Indiana's big Walt Bellamy Monday night. But that still would leave four teammates, plus some subs, to be accounted for.
